

Besqab starts the construction of 32 new townhouses in Upplands Väsby

Besqab ABs (publ) ("Besqab") has started the building construction of the housing project Sjöstråket with a groundbreaking ceremony. Besqabs COO David Johansson and Mathias Bohman, chairman of the municipal board in Upplands Väsby, attended in the ceremony.

Besqab is involved in developing Eds Allé, a new area by the lake Edssjön in Upplands Väsby. The area is a new district in Upplands Väsby, near the train station, with a total of 750 homes, divided into detached houses, townhouses and apartment buildings. Several blocks are already completed, and today's groundbreaking ceremony was held for the project Sjöstråket that is expected to be completed in the summer of 2026. The houses are being built with the environmental certification Svanen.

David Johansson, COO Besqab:

"I am proud to see this new residential area developing and it is nice to be able to put the shovel in the ground today for one of the last parts of this area, a part that is beautifully located close to the lake. The townhouses will have a nice architectural variation and are positioned so that many of the residents will have views towards the lake."

Mathias Bohman, Chairman of the Municipal Board in Upplands Väsby:

"I am grateful to announce that we today start a new attractive residential area with many qualities, close to both green areas and communications," says Mathias Bohman, chairman of the municipal board."
